

[23J] (One could argue philosophically about what is meant by "truth": in many areas the truth of a proposition is subjective, it can depend on the context, the interpretation, who does and who answers the question, on when the question is asked, etc etc; in mathematics the situation is simpler).